Principal's Message

Everyone makes mistakes and needs to learn how to correct those mistakes. Although most people recognize this principle when it comes to correcting schoolwork, people don't always realize that it applies to behaviour as well.

A major goal for all of us (parents, teachers, and anyone who is concerned about developing the whole child) should be the following: To help children learn how to make the right choices. In the realm of relationships, this approach stresses restitution, making the right choices from within. Outside control is never as effective as inner control.

What are the positions that rely on external control? In her book, "Restitution," Diane Chelsom Gossen labels them as follows: 1. Punisher 2. Guilter 3. Buddy 4. Monitor.

The Punisher says, "Do it or else!" and punishes for non-compliance. The Guilter tries to control by making the other person feel guilty about not doing what the Guilter wants. The Buddy tries to make people do what they want in order to please the friend. This isn't harmful, per se, but does not help the other develop independence in doing the right thing. The monitor uses both positive and negative reinforcement- a penalty for non-compliance, a reward for compliance. Doing the right thing should be a matter of personal responsibility. The best way of judging someone's character is to observe what they do when they think no-one is watching.

So when a problem arises, we need to teach kids these skills for proactively dealing with the situation. The four skills for positively dealing with conflict are 1. Stop 2. Say 3. Listen 4. Think. 1. STOP . . .before you lose control of your temper and make the conflict worse. 2. SAY . . .what you feel is the problem. What is causing the disagreement? What do you want? 3. LISTEN . . .to the other person's ideas and feelings. 4. THINK . . .of solutions that will satisfy both of you. We also tell children, if you still can't agree, ask a teacher for help.

Finally, when kids do mess up, as we all do, they need to be held accountable for being part of the solution. They need to understand right from wrong choices, the need to compensate for what they have done that's wrong, requiring time and effort on their part. They need to be genuine in making restitution, and understand that they must make amends with the one they have offended.

To work towards good restitution is truly a challenge, but one that we constantly need to strive for as we nurture good character in our children.

Ecole Dickinsfield Charity Holiday Crafts

Our annual Holiday Charity Bazaar will be postponed until next year. This decision was made to ensure the health and safety of the staff, students and families.

Each year the money raised is donated to the McMan Youth Family & Community Services Association. They in turn use it to provide holiday celebrations to those in need. As we would like to still be able to support them in this event, it has been decided to put on a craft charity bazaar for the students. The students will be able to select from an assortment of crafts to make as gifts. The limit will be two crafts per student, and they will be completed at school. This will occur in December.

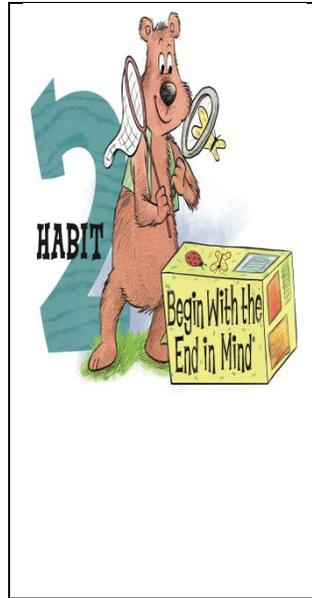

This event will not allow us to donate quite as much as past years. In order to aid in the cost offset of the crafts to keep the participation prices down and allow for maximum donations to McMann, we are asking for any of the following items to be donated if possible.

- 250 ml/1 cup or 500ml/2 cup - canning jars with lids
- Glitter - any colour
- Fake snow
- Duct Tape - any colour/pattern
- Medium Zip Freezer Bags
- Small gift bags
- Tissue Paper
- Gift Wrap
- Scotch/wrapping tape

These donations can be brought to the school and dropped in the box in front of the office, between Nov. 7 - 16th, 2016

Thank you for your continued support of our school fundraisers and events!!!

Leader in Me

"We grow leaders here!"

Habit # 2 Begin with the End In Mind

Begin with the End in Mind means to think about how you would like something to turn out before you get started. Reading a recipe before cooking or looking at a map before leaving on a trip is beginning with the end in mind.

For young children, a good example is that of a jigsaw puzzle. Before doing a puzzle, they look at the cover of the box. They start with the end in mind. Imagine you didn't have the picture on the box as your guide. Then it would take longer to finish the puzzle and you would be less effective in the use of your time. Goal setting with the end in mind is an important skill to be effective and successful in life.

Habit 2 means to have a plan. ' I plan ahead and set goals. I do things that have meaning and make a difference. I am an important part of my classroom and contribute to my school's mission and vision. I look for ways to be a good citizen.'
